

A I left the colored fellow there to look after it.

Q What was his name?

A Henry Twitty.

Q Is he still living? A. No, he is dead.

Q Do you know how long he stayed there?

A He stayed there till I put him out in 1933.

Q In 1933, why did you put him out?

A Because my brother come down and asked me to.

Q Your brother Everett you mean? A. Yes.

Q What did he tell you when he came down?

(Mr. Clapp) We object to any conversation between him and the deceased.

(Mr. DeBauter) Well, he was your witness.

(Mr. Clapp) Still the statute wouldn't allow him to testify to a transaction.

(Mr. DeBauter) Well, I think if you had put him on as your witness.

(Mr. Clapp) We didn't ask him about any transaction.

Q What was discussed between you and Everett at that time?

A Well, he come down there and said he insulted his friends and he couldn't get along with him, he wanted me to put him out of the house.

Q Did you put him out?

A Yes, I had a 30-day notice wrote and I took it up and served it on him myself.

Q Do you know what year that was?

A It was in 1933.

Q Was your brother Everett living on the property then?

A Yes.

Q Who else lived on the property; anybody?

A No, sir, nobody else.

Q Just your brother lived in the house and the colored man in the tenant house you call it?

A That's right.
